Fact-FinderstoCall Upon State Board in Knife Dispute

Kelb's Appointees Will Try to Settle Ulster Knife Works Strike on Since August

The fact-finding committee appointed by Supervisor William M. Kelb, Jr., of Wawarsing in the strike deadlock at the Ulster Knife Company has decided to enlist the services of the State Mediation Board in an effort to settle the strike that began on August 19.

Following a meeting earlier this week, Supervisor Kelb's committee sent the following statement to the Ulster Knife Company and the State Mediation Board:

"In a meeting this week, the fact-finding committee, Mayor William E. Graham, the Rev. William Combe and Supervisor William M. Kelb, Jr., decided to enlist the services of the New York State Mediation Board of the Department of Labor. Consequently this agency was contacted in the matter of a dispute between Local 56 and the Ulster Knife Co.

"The committee was advised that both groups will be contacted within the next couple of days.

Mr. Kelb denied reports that Benjamin Dekofsky, Ellenville merchant and Fred Dineen of Local 17 had been added to the committee.

Two Open Air Meetings
Meanwhile the union conducted two open air meetings at Liberty Square this week. Union officials urged the public to "come and hear the story of the strikers of the knife factory from their own mouths."

The turnouts were satisfactory, according to union spokesmen.

In a third statement prepared for publication the union maintains that "workers not working in the factory beginning the week of September 3, were notified by letter . . . to 'kindly return identification button.' The union claimed the letter implied that 'you are fired, if you do not return to work at once.'

On the premise that their assumption was fact, the union statement continued:

"This is a violation of the National Labor Relations Act. Workers cannot be fired for union activity. The company was given a strike notice and the workers waited the 30 days required by law. A conciliator from the United States Department of Labor came here but could accomplish nothing. The workers were, therefore, forced to stop work to gain their rights."

The statement concluded with the assertion that: "These workers are not fired. The letter is only one of the methods used . . . to frighten them back to work at starvation wages."

It has No Report
Herbert O. Hess, plant manager, had nothing new to report from the company's standpoint yesterday. The union's stand and the fact that management had nothing new to indicate that the two parties are as far apart as when the strike began in mid-August.

Orders Ceilings Restored
Sept. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt today, terming unwarranted and speculative Philippine food price increases since controls were last week.

Says 'Famine' to Be Disclosed as Rumor; Will Be Tough, He Says, on Chiseler

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—O.P.A. Chief Paul Porter told housewives today to quit worrying about a "meat famine later on this fall and winter."

"The much-publicized 'meat famine' will be disclosed for the irresponsible rumor that it is," Porter said in his weekly radio (ABC) discussion of food and price matters. He also promised the meat ceiling prices will be maintained, and will be enforced.

From government food experts, meantime, came an estimate that the sugar price increase approved by O.P.A. will add from $160,000,000 to $200,000,000 to food budgets in the next 12 months. The increase amounts to about two cents a pound in retail stores.

Porter said a shutdown of some meat plants and lack of meat at some butcher shops was a natural result of the big rush to market livestock while prices were uncontrollable.

"We're paying now for the abnormal glut of meat we had in July and August," he said. "That was the time when the sky was the limit as far as prices were concerned."

Meat supplies should be "fairly good," Porter predicted "after we get over the hump of the next six or eight weeks."

Promising a stiff fight against black markets, Porter said O.P.A. agents "will work in butchers' aprons right behind the counters of retail stores, with an ear open for any illegal shenanigans by meat suppliers."

"Tough on Chiseler"
"It will be pretty tough on the chiseler," he added.

The new sugar ceiling is effective Wednesday.

The increase, which O.P.A. previously had said was probable, became definite last night when it announced ceiling increases of one and one-half cents a pound for cane and beet sugar and 1.37 cents for raw cane sugar at the refiners' level.

When wholesalers and retailers pass this on, housewives will be paying 9 to 10 cents a pound for refined sugar at the grocery, compared with present national retail averages of 7 to 8 cents, the agency said.

Also on Wednesday, the Price Control Board will take another formal look at the prices for butter and cheese and debate whether price controls should go back on these commodities. They have been free from control since June 30.

Won't Restore Ceilings
Confidence that ceilings won't be restored was expressed by Charles W. Holman, executive secretary for the National Federation of Cooperative Milk Producers.

"There have been no dangerous developments in butter and cheese prices," Holman told a reporter. He said he believed that increases that caused concern by the board resulted from operations in the cheese market by a "few small operators who were caught short."

Vandenberg Calls For Policy Unity

Paris, Sept. 14 (AP)—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg called for unity on American foreign policy today, declaring "we can only cooperate with one Secretary of State at a time."

"Rightly or wrongly, Paris is doubtful of this unity this morning," said the Michigan Republican to Secretary of State Byrnes at the Peace Conference.

His statement, issued by the U. S. delegation, apparently was designed as an answer to the Thursday night speech by Secretary of Commerce Wallace. In that speech, which President Truman said he approved, Wallace appeared to differ in some respects from American foreign policy as outlined by Byrnes. Peace Conference sources said Byrnes had not been consulted about the Wallace speech either before or after its delivery.

County Health Unit And Commissioner Asked by Medicos

Resolution Will Be Sent to Supervisors; Ames Outlines Working of Program

The Medical Society of the County of Ulster, at a meeting held Thursday evening in the library of the Kingston City Laboratory, unanimously voted to send a message and resolution to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors recommending that there be formed in this county a County Health Unit.

Under this plan a Commissioner of Health for the county is appointed and public health in the county coordinated on a county-wide basis rather than on a state and town basis as at present.

Under the County Health Unit plan which was discussed at length in a question and answer session by the Medical Society members Thursday evening, after Commissioner of Health Dr. Wendell Ames of Cattaraugus County had given an outline of his unit and how it operated, a county which operates under the plan is reimbursed by the state to the amount of 75 per cent of the first $100,000 spent and 50 per cent of all cost in excess of $100,000.

The County Health Unit plan is a step in the state's Home Rule policy under which a locality participating in state aid maintains a greater degree of local jurisdiction over the program, he said. Dr. Ames in his talk told how under the county plan there is greater efficiency than under the present town health officer systems and he cited the experience of Cattaraugus county.

Is Being Considered
Formation of a County Health Department for Ulster county is now being considered by the Board of Supervisors.

Under the plan a county health officer is appointed and many of the local duties now coming under the state department jurisdiction would come under the jurisdiction of the county commissioner of health who would work in conjunction with town and village health officers who might be retained under the new set-up. These town and village health officers

President Woos Reds, G.O.P. Says

Truman Has Cabinet Split Over Foreign Policy on His Hands, Indications Are

Clayton Not Sure Says He Does Not Know Status of Incident Over Wallace

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Republicans accused President Truman today of angling for political advantage on the issue of American relations with Russia and invited him to choose between Secretary of State Byrnes and Secretary of Commerce Wallace as his exponent of foreign policy.

As G.O.P. members loosed blasts of criticism, there were widening repercussions elsewhere from the President's prior approval of Wallace's Thursday night plea at a New York political meeting for a softer policy toward Russia and his endorsement of the sphere-of-influence idea previously repudiated by Byrnes.

It became clear that Mr. Truman has a full-sized cabinet split over foreign policy on his hands. Some uncertainty over policy was evidenced at the state department.

Clayton told a new conference the Wallace speech was not cleared with the department and that it was not quite clear to him just what the President intended by his approval. And clarification, he said, would have to come from Mr. Truman.

Top officials left the impression, however, that they believed no actual change was contemplated from the policies Byrnes has pursued.

In London, a spokesman said the British Foreign Office was particularly surprised at Wallace's criticism of "British Imperialism."

Radio commentators there took Wallace's warning against close identification of American foreign policy with that of Great Britain.

Major Blunder Seen
There was no doubt from the Republican reaction that they believed Mr. Truman had, from the political standpoint, made a major blunder.

From Senators Brewster (R-Me.) Taft (R-Ohio) and Young (R-Ind) and Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) came individual comments all sounding one common note—that, by approving Wallace's talk in advance, Mr. Truman had undermined Byrnes' position at the Paris Peace Conference.

Brewster, who heads the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, told reporters he hopes that Mr. Truman will see to it that Wallace tends strictly to his job as Secretary of Commerce in the future.

"The President apparently didn't recognize that he had a secretary of state when he approved Wallace's speech," the Maine senator said. "I voted for the confirmation of Henry Wallace for Secretary of Commerce and not Secretary of State and I wish he would attend to the job to which the President appointed him."

'Facing Two Directions'
Brown said in a statement that Mr. Truman was "trying to face in two directions" by encouraging a Wallace bid to cement the administration's "alliance with the radical elements upon which it is basing its hopes for continued political power" while professing to support different policies enunciated by Byrnes.

The Ohio representative is directing the G.O.P. campaign.

Board Says 35 Replies Favor Plan

Steuding and Hallinan Are Told to Meet With Departments and Utilities

15 Ask Information Fifty-one Letters Sent to Owners; Only 15 Withhold Answers

Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding and City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan were directed to proceed with the proposed widening of North Front street an additional four feet, at the monthly meeting of the Board of Public Works on Friday afternoon at the city hall.

The board instructed Messrs. Steuding and Hallinan to call a meeting of representatives of the utility companies and heads of the city departments to discuss whatever problems may arise as a result of widening the street.

Action taken by the board followed the report of Assistant Secretary A. Foster Winfield that 51 letters containing releases had been mailed to that number of property owners on North Front street. Of that number 35 favorable replies had been received, while the remaining 15 asked further information before signing the releases which called for deducing to the city of two feet of sidewalk space in front of each property on both sides of the street.

To Meet With Board
Meeting with the two officers of the board will be representatives of the New York Telephone Co. and the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., as well as representatives of the police, fire and water boards of the city.

Under the proposed plan for modernizing North Front street it is planned not only to widen the street four feet, but to install a modern lighting system.

Many of the unsightly wires that are now carried on poles on that street will be removed, and the old poles replaced with ornamental street lighting poles.

Widening the street the proposed width, it was said, may make it necessary to change wire conduits in the streets as well as water lines.

Special Church Committee To Report on Divorces
Philadelphia, Sept. 14 (AP)—A special committee of prelates was scheduled to make a report today to the 35th triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church on its attempts to form a plan for liberalization of the church's marriage and divorce canons.

After a heated debate, the church's House of Bishops yesterday voted down 66-44 a marriage-divorce liberalization plan which a commission on matrimony had taken six years to write.

The rejected report was aimed at lifting the restriction that no one may remarry in the church during the lifetime of a former mate except the innocent party to a divorce granted on grounds of adultery. The commission on matrimony recommended that remarriage be permitted whenever the bishop of a diocese determines that a broken marriage has not been a true union of body, mind and spirit.

Japanese Strike Ordered
Tokyo, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Congress of Industrial Unions, claiming a membership of 1,600,000 tonight ordered a nation-wide strike of all affiliated unions. Because of the week-end holiday, effect of the order on major industries probably will not be known before Monday. The strike of a C.I.U. affiliate, the Japan Seamen's Union, has tied up eight U. S. liberty ships at Yokohama and the Japanese crews of six others threaten to walk off. Kyodo News Agency reported.

Dewey Supports Press
Albany, N. Y., Sept. 14 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey expressed his support today of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in its request that the United Nations General Assembly adopt a covenant to establish world freedom of information and of the press and said: "The personal liberty and the proper respect for the dignity of the individual are impossible without a free press."

Eight Streets Are Rebuilt in City

Cost Is Defrayed by Bond Issue; 15 Are Resurfaced

Eight streets have been rebuilt, and 15 streets resurfaced this season in Kingston, it was reported by Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding at the monthly meeting of the Board of Public Works on Friday afternoon.

The streets had been rebuilt, and the cost defrayed by the bond issue authorized by the Common Council earlier in the year for street improvements in the city.

The streets rebuilt are: East Strand from Hasbrouck avenue to railroad track, new base with MM 3 top.

East Strand from railroad track to North street, new base with penetration top.

North street from East Strand to Delaware avenue, new base with penetration top.

West O'Reilly street from cemetery to Wilbur avenue, new base with penetration top.

Hurley avenue from Snyder avenue to city line, resurfaced with MM3.

Broadway from Albany avenue to Cornell street, resurfaced with MM 3.

Broadway from Pine Grove avenue to Foxhall avenue, resurfaced with MM 3.

East Chester street from Broadway to Park street, resurfaced with MM 3.

Streets Resurfaced
The 15 streets that were resurfaced are:

Savoy street, entire length, semi-improved.

Unofficial Report Says Also Murphy, Howard Rate for Posts as Sergeants

The ratings in the recent police examinations in Kingston have been received from the State Civil Service Commission who marked the examination papers, and the local Municipal Civil Service Commission will meet next week to segregate the ratings and prepare eligibility lists to be submitted to the Board of Police Commissioners who will make appointments to the ranks of the police force.

Leonard Miller, president of the local civil service board, was in New York today and it was impossible to obtain information from him regarding the standing of candidates.

From unofficial sources, however, it was learned that Chief of Police Ernest A. Boss successfully passed the chief's examination, while Captain Fred Stoudt passed the examination for police captain.

The four police sergeants who took the examination for police lieutenant all passed the tests. The four are Raymond Van Buren, William J. Leonard, William T. Roedell, and James P. Martin.

Stoudt and Van Buren are acting lieutenants, and as he and Sergeant Roedell are veterans of World War I, they will be appointed lieutenants under the provisions of Amendment 6 of the state constitution which was adopted by the voters at the election last November. This amendment is known as

New Street Planned Uptown; Plans for Stadium Roof

A deed from Valentin Burgevin Inc., conveying land to be used for the construction of a new street to be known as Valentin avenue, was accepted by the Board of Public Works at its monthly meeting Friday afternoon, and referred to the Common Council for approval.

The deed conveys land 40 feet wide and 900 feet long lying south of Pearl street, between Burgevin street and Wilkie avenue.

Valentin avenue passes through a new real estate development off Pearl street, where it is expected a number of houses are to be erected.

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan filed with the board plans and specifications for the rebuilding of Dock street as a postwar project. The plans have been filed with the New York State Postwar Planning Commission for approval.

Roof on Stadium
The city engineer also filed with the board plans and specifications for the proposed roof to be placed over the grandstand in the municipal stadium.

The plans call for a structural steel truss roof. The structure is entirely independent of the existing stadium, and is supported without attachment to the stadium by cantilever in the rear giving maximum visibility and stability.

The press box and radio broadcasting booth are placed on the front of the roof for greater efficiency.

City Engineer Hallinan said the plans have been filed with the State Planning Commission for approval as a postwar project.

During August there were 723 loads of ashes and rubbish removed from the streets, and 738 loads were trucked to the city incinerator, and 1,497 loads to the city dump.

Bills and claims were audited, and the board then adjourned.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Sept. 14—Mrs. Albert R. Pernice and daughter, Joanne Marie, of Route 28, are visiting relatives in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Harold Corwin and children have returned to Astoria after having been here all summer.

The Conservation Department eradicating crews have been working in the Winchell woods east of the Ridge Road. Sam Cohen, Shokan grocer, has gone to Phoenix, Ariz., for his health. Elder Arnold Bellows of West Hurley came here Tuesday to perfect arrangements for the big Old School Baptist meeting, Wednesday through Friday. Highlight of the sessions will be the ordination, Friday, of Amasa J. Slawson, Kingston, as a preacher.

Sept. 14, 1897, Olive Sunday School Association met West Shokan Baptist Church, the meeting called to order by the Rev. Paul R. Gott, pastor of the church. Rev. Superintendent, indicated 53 pupils, most regular in attendance, four teachers, on account of summer boarding season. Boiceville, Simon Scott, superintendent, and Mrs. Benjamin C. Church, treasurer, reported attendance 82; Krumville, reported by Cornelia Krum, 45 members; Tongoro, M.E. Ward, Cornish superintendent, and Bessie Bishop secretary, 10 officers and teachers 70 pupils; Olive City, Milton Nicholas superintendent and Maggie McMillan, secretary, eight teachers 50 pupils. No report from Shokan Reformed which probably had about 100 members.

Local Boy Scouts and their mentors would like to secure a small piece of wooded land upon which they would be privileged to cut a few trees and construct a camp in the best approved scout manner.

Miss Mary Lord is visiting friends at Tannersville. Ray Cudney, George Nichols and James Rutherford have cleaned up the brush and weeds along the Ridge Road, one of the oldest highways in the county. Merritt and Asa Every, together with their wives, all of Daytona, Fla., have been calling on relatives and friends in Kingston and Shokan while on a vacation motor trip north. The two men are natives of this section and Merritt Every was a well-known automobile agent and garageman before removing to Florida several years ago.

Elson S. Oakley, Jr., S. 2/c, received his honorable discharge from the navy, August 10, at Annapolis, Md. Following his enlistment, Elson trained at Bainbridge and was later stationed at Washington, D. C., and Indian Head, Md.

THE CAMERA CORNER

Fall Is Out of Picture Material

Autumn, the season of mists and mellow fruitfulness, is also one of the most fruitful of all seasons for picture taking, either in black and white or in color. Let's line up a shooting script for the next few months. Call it the fall scenario. Get your camera ready and we're off.

School starts. Little Oscar, the family tike with shinning morning face and apple in hand, sets off doubtfully for his first day at school. That's a record shot you're sure to want for the album.

Hunting and Football

A little later father is raking and burning leaves, or putting on the storm windows. Any picture of evidence of father working is a collector's item. In reality, Junior will probably pull the rake detail while the old man is sitting up to his belt in swamp water waiting for a duck. The great fall offensive against enemy wildlife is always good for pictures even if old man Nimrod doesn't bag anything.

Back to school and the football season. But don't limit your snap-shooting to end runs and touchdowns, dramatic as they are. Take the crowd, the nail-biting substitutes on the bench, the cheer leaders spraining their ankles, the pretty drum major with the cold, blue knees. It's often more fun than the game.

At the county fair the picture possibilities are unlimited. The exhibits—animal, vegetable and mineral. Down on the midway you'll be tempted by the color and action of sideshows, the barkers and the candid expressions on gawking faces. Then you ought to be able to get some nice angle shots of the kids on the merry-go-round, the ferris wheel and the other rides.

Off to the Sulky Races

Out on the track, they're running off the sulky races—if you go to the proper kind of fair—and there are few more photographic subjects. But they're moving fast and the question is how to stop them with your camera. When a subject moves directly across in front of your camera lens, it continues to move while your shutter is open. That movement shows up as a blur on the film. If it's moving directly toward the camera or at a 45 degree angle, it goes a shorter distance across the film and the blur is not noticeable. And that's the most dramatic angle for a racing picture. Take a stand by the infield fence and get them coming down the stretch.

If you use the average hand camera for this kind of shot, a good exposure rule is to use the largest stop and give the shortest exposure that the camera can make. Of course, this doesn't necessarily apply if you have a large, fast lens with very high shutter speeds.

STONE RIDGE

Stone Ridge, Sept. 14—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Krum and infant daughter, Bonnie, of Patterson, N. J., spent a few days with Mrs. Krum's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. George DePuy of Athens, Pa., recently spent a few days with Mrs. DePuy's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, in Kingston.

Miss Betty Van Winkle has returned home from Ithaca, where she has been spending the summer.

Miss Clara Halvorsen and Mrs. Guttorm Nilsen are attending the wedding today of their niece, Miss Jean Fedde of Annadale, S. I., to Dalton Lund.

Mrs. Howard Riegey has returned to East Hampton after spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Percy. Mrs. Lillian Tripp of Bradenton, Fla., has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Bishop of Kingston.

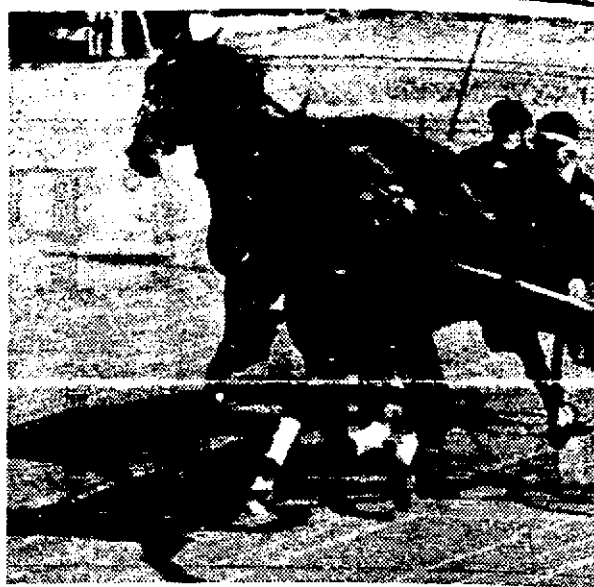

Mr. and Mrs. William Hasbrouck and Mrs. Herbert Smith spent Thursday in Rhinebeck, where they visited with Miss Madeline Goner.

Reformed Church, the Rev. Gerard Koster, pastor—Sunday school, 10 a. m.; worship service 11 o'clock. The pastor will speak on "Temptation To Evil." The Ulster County Christian Endeavor convention will be held at Rosendale on Sunday at the Reformed Church.

Peter's Episcopal Church, the Rev. Auguste Marlier, vicar—Morning worship service at 11:15. Methodist Church, the Rev. B. C. Schmidt, pastor—Sunday school 10 a. m.; worship service at 11. The W.S.C.S. held a picnic on Thursday at Forsyth Park.

Gets Husband's Estate

New York, Sept. 12 (Special)—Mrs. Kathryn Pronick of Albany avenue extension, Kingston, received $4,222 from the estate of her husband, the late Sylvain B. Pronick of New York, who was indicated in a State Transfer Tax Department reported filed here today. Mr. Pronick, who died October 4, 1945, left property which today's appraisal sets at $4,222 net value. The estate consists entirely of stock in the Superior Steel Corporation.

PICTURE OF THE WEEK. Taken at the Montgomery County Fair, Dayton, Ohio, this is additional proof, if more is needed, that two trotting horses have all eight feet off the ground at the same time. Those shadows on the ground add greatly to an already action-packed shot. The time, the place, and the angle were well picked by a photographer who knew his business. Taken with a Speed Graphic using Triple S Pan film, the exposure was set at 1/500 second and the aperture at f 16. This is an example of what we mean by the rich picture opportunities of fall.

1. What is the trick of taking "twin" pictures with the same person showing twice in the same picture?

ANSWER: All you need is a black background such as a very dark colored wall. Have your subject pose against the right side of the background. With your camera on a firm support, take a fully exposed picture. Then have the subject stand on the left side of the background. Take another exposure on the same film without moving the camera. The subject can appear to be shaking hands with himself or in any variety of gag poses.

2. I would like to take pictures of ships on water, but I have not found a way to reduce the glare which makes the negative too dense. Is there anything I can do about it without buying a polarizing filter?

ANSWER: The only way to avoid glaring reflections in photographs made over water without a polarizing filter is by choice of a suitable camera angle. Possibly your trouble is not so much glare as simple overexposure since you mention that the negatives are "too dense." Under the extremely bright conditions that often prevail when photographs are made over water, you will probably find it desirable to give one-half to one full lens stop less exposure than for average brightly-lighted subjects. With Plenachrome film, for example, an exposure of 1/100 second at f16 would be approximately correct in bright sunlight.

3. What is the best way to test my safelight?

ANSWER: In total darkness take a sample of the sensitive material (either negative or positive) and cut off a strip. Place the strip in the same position you would be in when developing, and turn on the safelight. Leave it exposed for about five minutes. Turn off the safelight. Develop the strip in total darkness, rinse and fix. If it shows light action, your light is not safe.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By JOHN P. MCKNIGHT (For Hal Boyle)

Trieste (AP)—Just as mosquitoes swarm happily to the full-blooded newcomer to the tropics, so do the Triestini assault the unjaded ear of the latest arrival in their city.

At all hours of the day and night the newcomer is subject to verbal assault by permanent residents and allied occupation authorities, all eager to give the version of the "situation" and their solution of the "problem."

It is easy to understand all this gum-bating, of course, for the permanent and semi-permanent denizens of this big port at the head of the Adriatic are acutely conscious of its present importance in the scheme of things.

Some quotes picked at random from the barrage of verbiage pounding at this correspondent's ears:

An allied information officer—"A large number, perhaps 60 per cent, of the Triestini will be pleased enough to have some sort of independence, or autonomy; but there are no Tom Paines in Trieste."

Capt. Alfred C. Bowman, senior A.M.G. civil affairs officer in the occupied Zone A—"Because I work on the theory that the best government is the least, some people have mistaken mildness for weakness. There has been some dis-order, but I think some Triestini are beginning to understand what we are trying to do."

Dr. Stanislaw Rubini, an editor of the Independent Corriere Di Trieste—"The smaller the political unit, the more international-minded it is—it has to be. Trieste is very much world-minded. We speak languages, we travel. Thus we are able to understand that Trieste is a European and world problem, and that only a European and world solution is possible."

A G.I.—"Most of the soldiers here, I think, don't care whether Trieste goes to Yugoslavia or Italy, or becomes international. But most of them don't like Tito (Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia) because they figure he's the guy keeping us over here."

An officer of the 88th Division, major American occupation unit in Zone A—"The worst of it is that these repeated pinpricks from the Jugs (the Yugoslavs) are beginning to get our soldiers sore, some of them are starting to want to do something about it."

Dr. Ferdinando Zidar, an editor of the Communist newspaper Il Lavoratore—"The Allied Military Government? It is definitely prejudiced in favor of the Italian faction in Trieste. It is not impartial. Events every day prove it."

An Italian waiter—"I do not understand the way the Yugoslavs are acting. I have been in Yugoslavia, and they are good people, who love their country and their homes and are nice to you. I do not see why we can't get along."

An American correspondent—"The hardest thing to find in this place is a fact. You can't even get a good estimate of how big the city is."

Frank S. Hyatt Weds
Mrs. Helen A. Young
At Ceremony Today

Mrs. Helen A. Young, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac B. Young, was united in marriage to Frank S. Hyatt, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Datis Ensign Hyatt, at 11:30 o'clock today in the parsonage of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church by the Rev. William R. Peckham. The attendants were Miss Lillian C. Hyatt and Kenneth E. Hyatt, niece and nephew of the bridegroom.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Augustus G. Roe. She wore a gray rayon crepe gown of simple design and carried an old fashioned bouquet. Miss Hyatt wore a gown of black, trimmed with green and a corsage of tallies and roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in a private room of the Governor Clinton Hotel to a small party of friends and relatives.

The couple departed immediately afterward for an extended trip to the interior of Canada, Quebec Province. They will stop at LaTourelle Lodge, Blue Sea, returning by eastern route to visit friends of the bride from New Jersey who spend their summers in the deep wooded country of the northeast. They will return home about October first and will reside at 35 Janet street, the home of the groom.

The bride was born in Ulster county and was a resident of New Jersey. For many years she had charge of the personnel department of the Underwood and Royal Typewriter Companies of New York City. For the past year she has been associated in the real estate business of the bridegroom, acting as secretary and will continue on their return.

The bridegroom is a well known real estate broker, who has conducted a successful real estate, insurance and appraising business in Kingston and vicinity for the past 17 years.

Emilie Wrolsen, Saugerties. Wed to Stewart P. Rogers. The wedding of Miss Emilie Wrolsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wrolsen, Saugerties, to Stewart P. Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Rogers, 389 Hooker avenue, Poughkeepsie, took place Sunday at the High Wood's Reformed Church. The Rev. Oscar Jesima officiated.

Miss Estelle Wrolsen, Saugerties, a niece of the bride, played the wedding march. Palms, white gladioli and candles were used for decorations.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white lace and tulle gown with a fingertip veil attached to a long train. A colonial bouquet of white gladioli with streamers of white pompons was carried by her sister, Mrs. Robert Gerth, Poughkeepsie, who was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a light blue lace and tulle gown with a train of matching lace and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow gladioli. The bridegroom wore a black tuxedo with a white shirt and bow tie. The bride's mother wore a black dress with a white collar and cuffs. The bride's father wore a black suit with a white shirt and bow tie. The bride's sister wore a light blue lace and tulle gown with a train of matching lace and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow gladioli. The bridegroom's mother wore a black dress with a white collar and cuffs. The bridegroom's father wore a black suit with a white shirt and bow tie. The bridegroom's sister wore a light blue lace and tulle gown with a train of matching lace and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow gladioli.

William H. Hanlon of Poughkeepsie was best man. Ushers were Berthel and Ingrid Wrolsen of Saugerties, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers left for a wedding trip to Connecticut. They will make their home at 371 Hooker avenue, Poughkeepsie. For traveling Mrs. Rogers chose a gray pin stripe suit with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School and Mr. Rogers of Poughkeepsie High School. He is a member of the Poughkeepsie Masonic organization and is employed by W. E. Cook Florist. He served in the army air corps from October 1942 to February 1946.

She wore a corsage of pink roses. Her attendant wore a black and yellow crepe dress with flowered headpiece of yellow with black veiling and a corsage of yellow roses.

A reception was held at Blossmer's Tea Room, High Falls for the immediate family. Upon their return from a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Bush will live in High Falls.

Mrs. Bush attended Hudson High School. Mr. Bush is a veteran of World War 2 and served in Europe.

John Grube Married Mary Santa Amato Today
Before Nuptial Mass in St. Joseph's Church

Miss Mary Santa Amato, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Amato, 96 Prince street, was united in marriage this morning to John Vincent Grube, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Francis Grube, 22 Taylor street, in St. Joseph's Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. John M. Brown before a Nuptial Mass at 10 o'clock.

Anthony Bonacci as soloist sang, "Ave Maria," "Pani Angelicus" and "O Lord I am Not Worthy." Mrs. Frank Rafferty was at the organ. The altars were decorated with white gladioli, candles and white baskets of flowers. Palms were placed on either side of the main altar.

The bride was escorted by her father. Her bridal gown of off-white satin was made with hoop skirt with train ruffled at the edge, fitted bodice with square neckline, trimmed with rhinestones and pearls and long sleeves. Her fingertip veil was attached to a headpiece of rhinestones and pearls and she carried a white satin prayer book with orchid and shower of white pompons.

Hogan-Amato Nuptials
Announced by Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Santo Amato, 47 German street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Rosemarie Amato, to John J. Hogan, son of Mrs. Katherine Hogan, 72 Ravine street, and the late John V. Hogan. The wedding took place Sunday at 2 p. m. in St. Peter's Church with the Rev. Joseph A. Geis officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Nan Goldrick, organist, played appropriate wedding music and Walter Smith, soloist, sang, "Ave Maria." The altar was decorated with pink roses.

The bride was escorted by her uncle, Louis Fuscardo. Her white satin gown was made princess style with sweetheart neckline of French imported Chantilly lace tapering off at the shoulders forming into the shoulder puff of her long pointed satin sleeves. The fitted bodice was trimmed as was the entire five yard train with four inch Chantilly lace. Her fingertip veil was caught to a calot with flowers at the sides. The veil was trimmed with rose medallions set in the scallops. She carried a white satin prayer book with gardenias and white streamers knotted with swansonia and fern.

Her sister, Miss Nan Amato, as maid of honor wore an aquamarine chiffon gown in Grecian style with long bouffant sleeves fitted at the wrist. The fitted bodice was designed with high neckline and the skirt was full. She wore a headpiece of pink, blue and white streamers. Miss Rita Amato, another sister, as bridesmaid wore a pink gown made with floral lace fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline trimmed with net, three-quarter length sleeves, and full net skirt. The 17 members of this year's graduating class of the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing were entertained at a dinner party Friday night as guests of the Ladies' Auxiliary. The class will be graduated Tuesday evening at commencement exercises in the Kingston High School Auditorium, 8:30 p. m. The Rev. Dr. Raymond Lindquist of Orange, N. J., will be the guest speaker.

The party was held at the home of Mrs. Henry Lambert Bibby, 97 Wall street, with 44 in attendance. Miss Jessie P. Allan, Miss Almena Porter and Miss Leah Schairer of the hospital staff were also special guests of the evening.

The house was decorated with many bouquets of garden flowers and the nurses' tables were arranged with yellow and white flowers and candles. Tiny bouquets of autumn flowers were used on the other tables.

Preceding the dinner the guests enjoyed walks through the flower gardens of the home. Afterwards Mrs. R. Frederic Chidsey, president of the auxiliary, congratulated the class and presented each with a box of stationery as a token of good wishes.

Miss Germaine Peters, one of the graduates, sang a solo, "Danny Boy," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Addison Schultz. Miss Dorothy Deyo of the class played several piano selections and all enjoyed an informal sing. Mrs. Bibby also congratulated the graduates and Miss Audrey Gillen, president of the class, responded.

The dinner was prepared by Circle No. 1 of the First Baptist Church under the direction of Mrs. Ermon Huston, chairman of the circle.

Arrangements were made by Mrs. Bibby, Mrs. Reynolds B. Carr, Mrs. N. LeVan Haver, Mrs. Harold Clayton, Mrs. Kenneth Wood, Mrs. Mortimer B. Downer, and Miss Mary Keresman. Mrs. Downer and Mrs. Haver had charge of purchasing the gifts for the class.

Miss Lina and Sophie Schmidt-konz have returned to their home, 211 Washington avenue, from a trip to California. The Misses Schmidt-konz flew from La Guardia Airport to San Francisco, where they visited their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Schmidt-konz. They also visited relatives and friends in Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Jacinto, Compton, and Riverside. While there they made the trip to Hollywood, Beverly Hills and Santa Monica.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman LaTour, Miss Margaret Riesser and Miss Betty La Tour of 299 Hasbrouck avenue have returned from spending a week with the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Young in Greenport, L. I. Mrs. Young is the former Miss Marjorie LaTour.

Robert R. Rodie, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodie R. Rodie, 83 Albany avenue, has returned to Yale University where he will complete his college course.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bradford are attending the Shriners' Convention at Atlantic City. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gherardi, 239 Webster avenue, Jersey City, N. J., are the parents of a daughter, Frances, born August 5. Mrs. Gherardi is the former Miss Doris Every, 36 Prince street. Mr. Gherardi formerly lived at 20 Green street.

Good Taste
Today

By Emily Post
(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

STEPMOTHER OR WHAT?
The name by which children introduce their stepmothers is an unceasingly troublesome question. Nearly all stepmothers feel hurt by that word, "step," but on the other hand, few children, old enough to remember their own mothers, are willing to call another person by their own mother's name. Today again comes this problem: "I call my stepmother 'Mama,' but I can't introduce her as 'Mama.' I don't want to introduce her as my mother and 'stepmother' hurts her feelings. What can I do?"

It is about time the opprobrium of the word "step" was abolished and the fair-tale stepmother forgotten along with the witch. In all the years that I have been writing, I have not found a solution except to say "stepmother," which is much better than "Father's wife" or just "Mama."

California Police
Hold Boy, 16; His Parents Missing

Fragments of Flesh, Bone, Blood Are Found in Home, District Attorney Says

Yuba City, Calif., Sept. 14 (AP)—A 16-year-old boy who vanished with two neighbor children was in custody today as officers tried to unravel the mystery of his parents' disappearance from their blood-spattered ranch home near here.

Held at Barstow, Calif., was Billy Anderson, 16, officers searched the countryside around Yuba City for W. H. Anderson, Billy's father, and Mrs. Donnie Anderson, his stepmother, fearing they had been slain.

District Attorney Lloyd Hewitt declared "fragments of flesh and bone and blood" were found in the bedroom of the Anderson home and "it is certain at least one and perhaps two murders have been committed."

The boy was picked up yesterday at Barstow, in southern California about 400 miles southeast of Yuba City, on a warrant charging forgery, and was quoted by authorities as saying he knew nothing of his parents' disappearance.

Sheriff Frank L. Porter at Kingston, Ariz., announced that the two missing neighbor children, Marilyn Hodge, 12, and Nathan Edward James, 15, had been picked up at Topock, Ariz., where they told officers they were on their way to Texas.

Porter said they told him one of two cars in which they were riding broke down at Barstow and they had gone on to Topock. Then Billy returned to Barstow to see if the second car had been repaired.

Hewitt, who also had lodged a charge of child theft against young Anderson after the disappearance of the neighbor children, was en route to Barstow.

Questioned All Day

Sheriff G. W. Carpenter of Yuba City said Billy had been questioned there all day last Monday about the absence of his parents from their home, and had told conflicting stories.

Hewitt later issued a complaint charging Billy with forging his father's name to three checks totaling $325. The child theft warrant was issued after the youth, the two neighbor children and two automobiles from the Anderson ranch were reported missing yesterday.

Sheriff Emmett Shay of San Bernardino reported young Anderson was picked up on the forgery warrant when he tried to cash a check in a bank at nearby Barstow. He said the boy was driving a car registered in his father's name.

Shay said the boy told him he knew nothing about his parents' disappearance and had left home "because the folks were too tough on me."

Before leaving for Barstow, Hewitt told newsmen that "there can be no doubt that someone was murdered in the Anderson home."

"We found fragments of flesh and bone and blood scattered about the bedroom," Hewitt said. "There was human blood on pieces of a bedsheet and there were evidences that part of a charge fired from a shotgun entered the wall in the room."

Won't Single Out P.A.C.
In Election Probe

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Chairman Priest (D-Tenn.) said today the House Campaign Expenditures Committee plans to question several organizations, including the C.I.O. Political Action Committee and the National Association of Manufacturers about their activities in this year's elections.

Several southern Congress members have urged investigation of the P.A.C. but Priest said the committee does not anticipate singling out any group for a special probe.

He told newsmen he is drafting a questionnaire, which he hopes to send to "more than 20" organizations. What questions it will ask and when organizations will receive it, Priest added, are matters to be decided at a committee meeting next Monday.

Teachers' Tasks Many

Miss W. M. Mansfield, New Zealand school teacher, protested when the educational conference at Auckland noted that teachers should serve best needs to children at school. Teachers have enough to do without that, she said: "By the time we have supervised milk drinking, apple eating and dental hygiene, attended to medical inspection records and sold sweet pea seeds, we just do not want any more items on the curriculum."

FOOD FOR ALL

At Copenhagen the world's second food conference has begun the fight against famine. The assemblage is the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, with 51 nations represented.

Scottish Sir John Boyd-Orr, director general, told the 700 delegates that the world grain supply had improved, but that there still existed a gap of 8,000,000 tons between needs and available grain.

The conference aim is to free the world forever of starvation areas. A plan already has been submitted to establish a world food board for control of food production and distribution so that man's most basic need can be met.

As an aftermath of the war, the ancient threat of hunger has been forced into the international limelight. Perhaps the Copenhagen meeting can make real progress toward an equitable sharing of the earth's sustenance. It is hoped that Russia, which has not yet joined the food organization, will add her support to the world program.

VEGETABLE PLATE

The worst meat shortage yet has descended. In Kansas City seven packing plants suddenly closed last week-end, and thousands of employees were laid off. In Chicago less than 500 head of cattle were handled where eight times as many were processed the same day of the previous week.

The American housewife trudges from one meatless butcher shop to another. Her family sits down to cheese soufflé one night and three kinds of vegetables the next—all good food, but now and then they want a bit of meat.

The least figure-minded among them know there has been no sudden disappearance from the earth of cattle, lambs and pigs. They know the meat was there during the O.P.A. "decontrol" period. Prices, high at first, were lowered when meat stayed on counters.

O.P.A. ceilings, though moderately higher, are back stifling the law of full supply and limited pocketbooks. But there is just as much potential meat in the country as before.

WAY TO LOSE MONEY

"I thought the money would be safe, hidden in the family Bible." So spoke an imprudent housewife, lamenting the loss of several hundred dollars.

People still persist in keeping large sums around the house. They forget that the average thief has a pretty good idea where to look. Mattresses may seem like good hiding-places to home-owners, but they are almost the first place where any thief looks.

Banks are government-guaranteed and thief-proof. They leave home far behind as safe places for valuables.

THINGS TO BUY

Belgium is having one grand buying spree. The new clothes, food and entertainment lacked during the war have suddenly returned, and the people are celebrating by getting what they want.

Shop windows display candy, fruit, vegetables and meat in piles. Women's clothes on display draw crowds, and the lines are long in front of theatres and dance halls.

The Belgians' enthusiasm for every conceivable article for sale is an indication of what they missed in the lean years of fighting.

ALMOST THE CAPITAL

Columbus, Nebraska, has been celebrating its 50th year as almost the capital of the United States. In 1856 George Francis Train, promoter and author, prophesied that some day the capital would move from the Eastern seaboard to the center of the country. He picked Columbus as the ideal site.

The prophet was not much farther, but Columbus has at least one qualification for a national capital. It owns the one name

WHO PAYS?

The Resolution adopted by the General Assembly of the United Nations on February 11, 1946, provided:

"The Headquarters Commission shall draw up plans based on the assumption that the United Nations will acquire approximately: (i) 2 square miles (ii) 5 square miles (iii) 10 square miles (iv) 20 square miles (v) 40 square miles."

Not a word is said in this resolution about the United States having a decision as to whether it will permit the United Nations to take 2, 5, 10, 20 or 40 square miles of American territory out of the United States, other than its one vote in the U.N. Assembly. According to this resolution the final decision rests with the Assembly.

But the United Nations is not satisfied with the territory it seeks to place under its own jurisdiction. The resolution further instructs:

"The Headquarters Commission shall ascertain what measures the federal, state and county authorities in the United States are prepared to take in order to control development in the territory adjacent to the zone."

By this provision, it seeks to set up apparently a marginal area surrounding U.N. which is to be a buffer zone between the United States and U.N., and which while under American jurisdiction is to be developed by mutual agreement with such limitations upon its economic and social life as U.N. may find necessary. How wide this marginal zone is to be, what limitations are to be placed upon it, why it is necessary, does not appear in the resolution.

Instead appears this graceful resolution: "Considering that appropriate assistance should be given to the residents and neighbors of the site finally chosen as the permanent headquarters of the United Nations in the United States, to the effect that this selection will not cause injustice to be done to them, it is resolved that the United Nations shall give all due and friendly consideration to any problems that may arise in connection with the possible displacement of residents."

That requires elucidation. What, for instance, is meant by the word, neighbors? Are those the Americans in the marginal zone? Are they also to be displaced? What is meant by "due and friendly" consideration? Does that mean compensation for property values? For good-will? For sentimental values? At a time of a housing and material shortage, to grant priorities for displaced Americans? And why should a foreign agency be in a position to obtain priorities unavailable for American citizens? And what about displaced school children? How, at a time when every school is overcrowded, are these children to be provided schooling of equal merit?

Now let us see how all this is to be paid for. In the Draft Convention between the United Nations and the United States, it is provided:

"Section 4 The Government of the United States of America shall be responsible for the expropriating and compensating so far as necessary and as soon as possible all interests in land and buildings conveyed to the United Nations."

"Section 5 Having regard to Section 4, the United Nations shall pay to the United States of America a fair price for any land and buildings conveyed to the United Nations. The amount so payable shall be credited to the United States of America in the accounts of the United Nations and shall be set off, during such period as may be fixed, against contributions due from the United States of America. In default of agreement, this price and this period shall be determined by an expert selected by the President of the International Court of Justice."

In other words, the United States pays the cash and gets a credit against future payments of dues and contributions. As a practical proposition, however, if U.N. situated in the heart of the United States, is broke, this country will have to postpone the set-off. You can be certain that the U.N. jobholders will conduct a propaganda among us to cancel the debt, as we generally cancel all such debts up to $40,000,000,000 for Lend-Lease. In a word, we give them the land; we pay the money; we get a promissory note. Figure that one! (Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

SALT

I write frequently about the mistake overweight people make in drinking so much water because they know that water and most other fluids have no food or fuel (caloric) value. What they fail to remember is that fat tissue absorbs water to the extent of 3½ pounds to every pound of fat. This means that if one pound of solid fat is removed the overweight individual loses 4½ pounds of weight.

I have written before about the great amount of weight (water) removed by wrestlers or other athletes in a bout or match (as much as 15 pounds), and how this weight is all back within a day or two.

There is another factor in increasing weight and also maintaining weight and that is table salt. To remain healthy all the fluids of the body must contain plenty of salt, must in fact be bathed in salt water. Animals know this and travel many miles to obtain salt.

However many foods are rich in salt and require little or no salt to make them tasty, yet many overweight people like to season nearly all the foods eaten by using much salt.

Now, just as fat tissue holds water so also does salt in blood and tissue. One gram of salt holds 10 times its own weight of water in the tissues so that the already overweight individual, who likes salty foods, likes his foods well seasoned, with salt in cooking, and then puts plenty of salt on the food at the table, is bound to have a great excess of water in his tissues which is just that much more excess weight.

That excess water in the tissues is a serious matter, aside from overweight, is well known to physicians who put sufferers with epilepsy, sinus disturbances, heart and blood pressure disease, on small amounts of food rich in salt (sodium) and prescribe drugs to drive water out of all the body tissues.

The thought then is that all the tissues of the body need water and salt daily to keep in good health, but the excess salt and water in the tissues, water in his tissues, and a good deal of water in all liquids, avoid salty foods, and put only a little salt in cooking and at the table.

"A Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

One of the finest amateur minstrel shows at the turn of the century in Kingston was the benefit show for Corporal William G. Sellers, a veteran of the Spanish American War, which was held in the old Kingston Opera House, May 7 and 8, 1901.

Henry Powers was the inter-locutor, while the endmen were William A. Richardson, James S. Barber, William G. Merritt and John Smith.

The soloists were Oliver Carpenter, Jr., J. Hardenburgh Roosa, Elmer A. Burger and Dr. George F. Chandler.

Among those in the circle were Frank Wilmot, Charles L. Preston, H. W. Reid, Charles Reynolds, Jr., William B. Cusack, Julius Bruns, and a host of others.

Arthur R. Lyons, Monroe Burger, William R. Anderson, Lawrence J. Clinton and Chris. K. Loughran.

Those appearing in the olio were Mr. Richardson, Mr. Barber and Charles Hunt in monologues; John Hagan and John Fox in a club singing; and Arthur Lyons in illustrated songs.

The orchestra of the steamer Mary Powell furnished the music for the show.

The first annual banquet of the Kingston Drug Club was held on March 5, 1901, in the Mansion House, and was attended by 40 druggists and their clerks.

The officers of the club were: Charles C. Ten Broeck, president; Charles L. McBride, vice president; William Cooper, secretary, and Henry C. Connelly, treasurer.

Those who spoke at the banquet were John B. Alliger, the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seelye of the Fair Street Reformed Church, the Rev. Sam W. Small, who hailed from Georgia, and was holding a series of religious services in the city, and the officers of the club.

The Board of Trade held its annual banquet on February 19, 1901, in the Eagle Hotel on Main street, with Edward T. Stelle, the president, presiding as toastmaster.

Among the speakers were Mayor James E. Phinney, the Rev. Dr. A. J. Palmer, G. H. Raymond of Buffalo, Howard Chipp, well known local attorney, the Rev. Samuel Small, and Major Wilbur H. Weston, president of the Central Hudson Steamboat Co.

Older readers will recall the years when the old Mansion house was the most popular hotel downtown. It passed out of existence in the early 1900's, and the building now houses the Connelly Drug Co. and the downtown office on the first floor, while the upper floors are used as living apartments.

In the early days when stage coach lines connected Kingston with the surrounding territory, many of the stage lines used the hotel as the terminal.

The Eagle Hotel for years was the outstanding hotel downtown, and was a favorite banqueting hotel where many of the various organizations of the city held their annual banquets.

The old hotel was torn down some years ago, and the site is now a parking ground for automobiles.

Information on Soundings
Most information on the depths of oceans comes from soundings made from ships. The first was struck a solid blow, and instruments record the exact time it takes for the sound to travel to the ocean floor and its echo to come back to the ship. A mathematical calculation does the rest.

Cattle Get Melons
Shortage of sugar and of tin for cans has hit the farmers of South Africa's Western Province, but reports and millions of kaffir watermelons, customarily canned, are not even being harvested. Demand of the overseas market also has been disappointing and watermelons are being fed to cattle.

WHO IS A COMMUNIST?

In the short time since Roosevelt's death and since the end of the war America has shown that it is going to challenge Communism, at home and abroad. The fight is on; the danger is right here at home; and it is time every citizen who does not believe in the red reactionary fascism of Marx and Stalin recognize the enemy.

Who is a Communist? Is Senator Claude Pepper a Communist? Are Representatives George E. Outland and Helen Gahagan Douglas of California and Hugh DeLacy and $2500-Coffee of Washington Communists?

The U. S. Supreme Court blocked the deportation of Harry Bridges during the war by narrowing down the legal question to one of membership in the Communist Party instead of deciding the case on its merits, despite reams of evidence that Bridges was helping Communism. Apparently the tribunal would have been obliged to permit Bridges' deportation as an undesirable alien (he's now a citizen) if membership in the Party had been proved.

The hair-splitting decision was typical of New Deal maneuvering to protect Marxists.

Just before the war army intelligence officers, under political Whittaker Chambers, handed down from the White House, just about went crazy trying to prove who was and who was not a member of the Communist Party. The party secretaries had burned their rolls (though some rosters had been captured by police, FBI army and navy agents) and anyway many a comrade belonged under a party name.

For a very short time early in the war the army's policy was changed to make sense: Anybody was to be considered a Communist who followed the Party line. I don't know how it was possible for this policy letter to get out of Washington. It was quickly retracted and for a long time nothing was said that could serve as a guide for intelligence officers who wanted to know specifically how to identify a Communist—and what to do about him. The expressions "subversive personnel" and "potentially subversive personnel" were used to evade the issue.

There is evidence that the army today, with many a red in atomic laboratories and many another wearing officer's insignia, still is unable to clean house and may possibly be up against the same brick wall of having to prove party membership before taking action to safeguard our defenses against an officer whose loyalty is in doubt.

Our State Department apparently has been asked to pass anti-lynching legislation. But a bill of this type has never been enacted. Such a bill, says the Civil Rights Section, would be a new civil rights statute. The section says all anti-lynching bills were aimed at enforcing the 14th amendment, which says an individual cannot be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law, which means a fair trial.

The standard anti-lynching bills of the past have been aimed at state officials rather than at members of mobs. Says the section, "They would make state officials criminally responsible for failing to take necessary measures to protect an individual from a mob, in fact to ascertain the identity of mob members and to prosecute mob members."

The recent lynching of four Negroes near Monroe, La., by 20-odd white men spotlighted the problem of civil rights. FBI agents are investigating the lynching, but they find that some Georgia official conspired with the lynch mob to kill the Negroes.

This and comparable cases prompted Attorney General Clegg to say in a speech at Cambridge, O., that federal action to protect civil rights "hangs upon a very thin thread of law."

"It is like trying to fight a mob with a Civil War musket," he said.

Attorney General Clegg has been asked to pass anti-lynching legislation. But a bill of this type has never been enacted. Such a bill, says the Civil Rights Section, would be a new civil rights statute. 41 Governors Are Behind Freedom of World Press Cause

By JOHN A. PARRIS, Jr.
Lake Success, N. Y., Sept. 14 (AP)—Forty-one U. S. Governors threw support today behind the request of the American Society of Newspaper Editors that the United Nations General Assembly adopt a covenant to establish world freedom of information and of the press.

Letters from the Governors were included in a proposal submitted to members of the U.N. Economic and Social Council here by Walter Forrest, ASNE president and chairman of its standing committee on world freedom of information.

The specific program on which ASNE asks the U.N. Assembly to take "concrete action" this fall calls for establishment of the principle of freedom of the press among all nations. It further aims to discourage or prevent government or private monopoly of media of information.

Program Endorsed
The program has been endorsed by Secretary of State James E. Byrnes, Prime Minister Clement Attlee of Britain, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of China, Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts of South Africa, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, administrator over conquered Japan.

The editors reminded the Economic and Social Council of the deep interest of President Truman and the late President Roosevelt in press freedom evidenced by them in communications to ASNE.

Here are excerpts from some of the statements by the Governors: Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York—"Personal liberty and the proper respect for the dignity of the individual are impossible without a free press. The same necessity applies in these days to exchange of information among nations. There can be no sure or safe freedom anywhere while an iron curtain exists in the world."

Gov. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska—"Whatever success those of us who inhabit the earth achieve in holding off another world conflict will have its roots in mutual understanding, appreciation and trust . . . if peace is in the hearts of our peoples, then let it have freedom of expression. If peace is not in the hearts of our people, the sooner we find it out, the sooner we will be able to diagnose the trouble."

Gov. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania—"Unless freedom of information exists, the maintenance of world security is endangered."

Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois—"Science has dissolved the factor of distances. World freedom of information would bring all ends of the world even closer in a common conception of the need of peace and the ways of achieving it."

Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio—"The greatest avenue to peace lies through a world free press."

Gov. Earl Warren of California—"The maintenance of peace is a matter which will always be dependent upon understanding, and it is elemental that such understanding will always be dependent upon a free exchange of information."

Gov. Maurice J. Tobin of Massachusetts—"I am hopeful that the Assembly of the United Nations will approve the program which aims to strengthen the foundations of international peace just as freedom of the press has buttressed the civic, economic and social structure of our United States of America."

Gov. Walter E. Edge of New Jersey—"The world would be better off, to my mind, if this freedom of the press and freedom of speech were extended to all nations."

The Governors of Michigan, Missouri, Indiana, Georgia, Wisconsin, Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama, Virginia, Iowa, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas, West Virginia, South Carolina, Florida, Maryland, Kansas, Washington, Connecticut, Colorado, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, North Dakota, Utah, Montana, New Mexico, Vermont, Delaware, Wyoming and Nevada added their voices to the press freedom appeal of the editors.

Veterans Gave Rigid Tests To Meat Soldiers Consumed

By Frank Carey
Washington, Sept. 13 (AP)—When U. S. and Filipino troops were making their gallant last stand on Bataan they had to eat monkey meat and the flesh of the water Buffalo.

But before the beleaguered men were allowed to touch this strange food it was given rigid inspection by army veterinarians. That was just one of the many unusual jobs performed during wartime by military "vets."

On a given day one man might be setting the broken leg of a mule on the Burma front. Another might be working in Iceland, seeking an answer to the riddle of "maedivick," a lung disease of sheep which is a problem there of modern war, the horse, the mule, the war dog, the carrier pigeon—and even the Caribou—played a big role in Allied victories. Military veterinarians were in the thick of the fight.

Near the end of the war, the U. S. Army's total horse and mule strength was $3,599—including 16,215 serving overseas. Hundreds of American steeds served with Allied armies. The U. S. also had thousands of war dogs and pigeons.

Thanks to effective immunization programs, preventive medicine and treatment, says the War Department, "not a single epidemic occurred" among the thousands of animals and birds.

Record Unparalleled
The record, added the army, "stands unparalleled in the history of war."

War-time force of the Army's Veterinary Corps included 2,200 veterinary doctors, 5,000 enlisted men.

Inspection of meats, meat-foeds and dairy products for army use was a major part of their work. By war's end, the corps was inspecting 30,000,000 (m) pounds of such food every day.

In their research laboratories, veterinary scientists made other contributions to the winning of the war.

They developed a method for "quick freezing" milk so that it could be kept as long as three months and still be tasty when thawed out. It was designed for hospital ships and distant outposts.

They found that penicillin offers "the first promising treatment" for leptospirosis, a jaundice-like disease of dogs that can be transmitted to man. In humans it is known as Weil's disease, and it is sometimes fatal.

Dogs got it from eating infected rats; man gets it from tending a sick dog.

The vets contributed to the knowledge and treatment of filariasis in dogs—a malady that was common among coast guard war dogs stationed on the eastern seaboard. Sand flies and mosquitoes infected them with a worm-like "filaria," which attacks the heart and intestines of a dog.

Dog filariasis—fortunately not transmissible to man—differs from a similar named disease in humans.

Military vets used antimony compounds in treating it. One of their most important findings was that antimony can not be given to all dogs. Some are sensitive to the chemical.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has also found antimony compounds effective against filariasis in sheep.

Disagree on Procedure
Tokyo, Sept. 14 (AP)—A Russian-American disagreement on procedure for conducting Allied council meetings was disclosed today in the agenda issued for next Wednesday's session. George C. Atcheson Jr., the U. S. chairman, declared a Soviet-proposed rule for placing topics on the agenda would be "a rule for disorderly procedure." Details of the Soviet plan were not given.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Housing Trouble
Bend, Ore., Sept. 14 (AP)—The Dailed-California highway, major inland route between the Pacific northwest and California, was blocked for hours by a house.

A two-story house complete to chimney and made-up bed was being moved along the highway to another town when it fell from a trailer and fell to pieces.

Good and Bad
Ilahee, Ore., Sept. 14 (AP)—R. F. and R. S. Christie, of Grants

Not for Him
Hillsboro, Tex., Sept. 14 (AP)—Jimmy Spear, farmer living here, spent yesterday in bed. Each Friday the 13th is unlucky or not. Flying from Diamond Lake, they met bad luck by flying into a fog and their light plane became low on gas. In searching for an emergency landing field they came down through the soup in hilly country—but broke out over a large pasture off the North Upmqua river and landed without mishap.

No Percentage
Los Angeles, Sept. 14 (AP)—John A. Sherwood, working in a man-hole, was surprised, to say the least, when he came up at noon to get his lunch from his automobile. He saw a man taking the paper bag containing the lunch, gave chase, and bagged his man, whom he turned over to police.

Sherwood felt pretty good about the whole thing, until he settled down to eat his lunch. The police had taken it for evidence.

Big Turnout
Decatur, Ill., Sept. 14 (AP)—James Millikin University, expecting a record enrollment of more than 1,300 when classes open next week, arranged a picnic for all freshmen and other new students. But they discovered there were so many newcomers they couldn't get enough food to go around. So they asked all new students living in Decatur to stay home.

Vanishing Cash
Peoria, Ill., Sept. 14 (AP)—Thomas Dwyer's $155 apparently is gone with the wind. Dwyer had $210 in his bank book, which fell out of his pocket. A gust of wind sent bills fluttering along the street. Three boys scooped up $55 and returned it to Dwyer. But he never found the rest of the money—$155.

Redeployment
(By The Associated Press)
The troopship J. W. McAndrew is scheduled to arrive today in New York from the Azores with 1,096 service personnel. The men were transferred to the McAndrew from the Antioch Victory which had developed engine trouble.

No other dockings were expected.

Is for Lehman
Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Fiorello H. LaGuardia says he is for Herbert H. Lehman. Democratic senatorial candidate in New York, but is not sure yet how he stands on the rest of the party's ticket. Asked whether he would support Lehman, his predecessor in the U.N.R.R.A. director generalship, LaGuardia answered reporters yesterday, "Oh, I should think so. Wouldn't you?"

James Abbott McNeill Whistler, painter, was expelled from West Point at the age of 20.

Nine Persons Burned, Some May Be Dead in Hotel Fire

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 14 (AP)—Authorities said it might be as late as tomorrow before they could determine whether anyone perished in a fire which completely destroyed the Great Northern Hotel here early today.

Nine persons were known to have been burned critically, but firemen were unable to enter the scorching remains of the 73-room brick structure to search for bodies of any who might not have escaped the flames.

Weldon Raskberry, Hot Springs commissioner of public safety, and W. A. Akers, city fire inspector, said it was impossible for firemen to look among the remains because of intense heat.

Hotel officials were unable to determine the number of guests in the hotel and the registry had not been found.

The fire, cause of which is not known, broke out at 12:50 a. m. Local hospital authorities released this list of persons critically burned, all with third degree burns: (Street addresses unavailable):

Louis Barrett, New Orleans, La.; Chester Ross, Denver, Colo.; J. D. Truitt, Miami, Fla.; Arnold Bray, Hot Springs, Ark.; H. H. Johnson, Sedalia, Mo.; Jimmy Adams and Martha Adams, his wife, of Arkadelphia, Ark.

Vera McBeth, Monroe, La. Five other persons who were burned received first aid treatment and were released, the hospital said. Mrs. Adams was in the most critical condition.

The fire, cause of which was not yet known, sent flames 75 feet into the air.

O'Dwyer's Sister Brings 527 Nylons Back to Ireland
Dublin, Sept. 14 (AP)—Fashion shops all over Ireland showed keen interest today in 527 pairs of nylon stockings which customs officials reported they had confiscated from the baggage of Miss Kathleen O'Dwyer on her return from a visit to her brother, Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York.

One shop said it would pay $2,000 for the stockings. Eire has seen few nylons except for a few dozen pairs imported early in the war.

Customs officials said the stockings were confiscated because they were in Miss O'Dwyer's private baggage and not declared as merchandise.

In New York, Paul O'Dwyer, a lawyer and brother of Miss O'Dwyer, said she took the stockings to Eire in behalf of a Kennedy dry goods merchant.

Will Issue Scrip
Frankfurt, Sept. 14 (AP)—In a move to smash black marketing by American soldiers in Germany, the U. S. military government has announced it will issue scrip next Tuesday in lieu of Allied marks as the legal tender in all post exchanges and other military establishments in the American zone of Germany.

Bailey Gets 180 Days
George Bailey, 29, of 54 Garden street, on the plea of guilty to disorderly conduct, was sentenced to 180 days in the county jail by Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court this morning.

Bailey was charged by his wife with using vile and indecent language in the family home.

C.P.A. Approves Materials For Solar Heat Trials

Boston, Sept. 14 (AP)—The regional office of the Civilian Production Administration said today it has authorized Massachusetts Institute of Technology to build an experimental solar house for research in heating homes with energy from the sun.

Regional Director William P. Homans said that the construction also would aid technology in obtaining solar heat storage data for solar housing design.

Officials at M.I.T. reported the project was "part of a research program for heating homes only with solar energy to save critical materials and fuel by eliminating conventional type heating systems."

To Fill Vacancies
Herbert S. DuBois of Wallkill, RD., is the Republican candidate for assessor three years and David Brundage, Wallkill, RD., is candidate for one year term in the town of Shawangunk, both to fill vacancies. They will be balloted for at the November election. Democratic candidates have not yet been announced.

Ticket Endorsed
Lake Placid, N. Y., Sept. 14 (AP)—The New York state C.I.O. convention today endorsed the entire state Democratic ticket after hearing former Governor Herbert H. Lehman, candidate for U. S. senator, hail his party as the champion of labor.

Coast to Get Lashing
Boston, Sept. 14 (AP)—The New England coast is in for a lashing tonight from the tail of a tropical hurricane that is spending itself at sea. The Weather Bureau said today. However, the storm is "nothing to be alarmed about," the bureau's announcement added.

Embargo on Wheat
Seattle, Sept. 14 (AP)—An embargo on shipments of Pacific northwest wheat to coast terminals because of the maritime strike was announced last night by F. T. Westmeyer, district manager of the Association of American Railroads.

Want Pay Benefits
Philadelphia, Sept. 14 (AP)—The C.I.O.-United Auto Workers will demand application to their contract of any pay benefit that might be reached in the settlement of the nationwide maritime strike providing "the formula reached is higher than the 18 1/2 cent formula which settled the auto strikes," says A.W. Vice-President R. J. Thomas.

Firemen Will Meet
The regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held Tuesday evening in the American Legion Building in New Paltz. An interesting program is being arranged for the meeting, and at the close refreshments will be served. The October meeting of the association will be held in Woodstock.

International Is Ready to Back Up Local Bartenders

Backed by the assurance of International Vice President Miguel Garriga, of the International Bartenders and Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union, that the parent body would give full support to Local 666's efforts to organize the Stuyvesant Hotel, George E. Stuyvesant, Jr., Local 666 representative said today that his group has filed application with the New York State Labor Board for designation as bargaining agent for the employees.

Mr. Yerry said that if the State Labor Board approves the application, the Stuyvesant Hotel will be legally compelled to bargain with Local 666.

Local 666 is seeking to secure union rights for three bartenders at the Stuyvesant who have signed union cards. A statement by Fred Eisler, manager of the Stuyvesant, that management would not agree to negotiations until Local 666 could furnish proof that a majority of the employees wanted a union was discounted by Mr. Yerry.

"We can unionize any part of any organization we desire," he said.

Mr. Yerry declined to predict when picketing would start at the Stuyvesant Hotel, The Barn, American-Italian Restaurant, Hofbrau or other establishments of the Ulster County Liquor Dealers Association. The aforementioned places were singled out because they are operated by officers of the association.

Meanwhile, Local 666, reported a growing list of establishments who have signed union contracts for their employees. Among them are the Hotel Stanley in Napa, Loeckevack Dam Inn, Weinig's Hotel, Napa, the Shanty in Napa, the Alpine, Yacht Club Restaurant, Ray Schuler's and the Governor Clinton Hotel which signed on June 3.

6 Business Men Will Attempt to Settle Truck Strike

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer entrusted to a six-man board of business men today the task of unsnarling negotiations in the paralyzing strike of A.F.L. truck drivers as two of the city's largest food chains prepared to close their stores because of lack of deliveries.

The committee was named last night after representatives of the truck operators and the striking unions, Locals 807, 282 and 816 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters failed to reach an accord to end the walkout.

"The meeting (of the employer and union representatives) has not provided a basis for settlement," O'Dwyer said.

Will Meet Both Sides
He announced the committee would meet with both sides at 10 a. m. (E.D.T.) today to "continue their efforts to reach a solution."

As the A. & P. and Safeway Stores completed plans to close 740 stores tonight for the duration of the strike, union and employer officials said there was little prospect for a quick end to the 14-day old strike.

John E. Strong, president of Local 807, key unit in the dispute, said he saw no chance for an agreement "for at least a week."

"It is a very complicated situation," he said. "The best I can hope for now is a temporary agreement which would have to go back to the membership." Union members have scheduled a meeting for Tuesday.

Long Drawn Negotiations
Michael J. Cashal, vice president of I.B.T., said "there won't be any (development) for at least two days." He added that the negotiations might take even longer.

An employer spokesman who declined to be identified by name said the negotiators were "further apart than ever in their discussions and had not reached the subject of wages."

The strikers seek a 30 per cent wage hike, a reduction in working hours from 44 to 40 hours a week and changes in working conditions. The operators have offered a flat $3 a week boost. O'Dwyer proposed a compromise wage increase of 18 1/2 cents an hour but this was turned down by most operators and union members.

Chilly Weather Continues
Chill fall weather continued to prevail in Kingston last night and early this morning when the mercury in the official thermometer at the city hall dipped to a low of 42 degrees during the night, as Britain and France. The planter was recording as low as 32 would, in effect, have placed the city in the category of a yesterday's record of a low of 45 conquered, rather than a liberated to a high of 68 degrees during the afternoon.

'Notorious' at Reade's Kingston Theatre

Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman, co-starring as American secret-service operatives battling the German postwar underground in Brazil, bring the impact of their outstanding talents and popularity to Alfred Hitchcock's production of "Notorious," which will be shown at Reade's Kingston Theatre beginning Wednesday, September 18.

Brazil's beautiful city of Rio de Janeiro is the setting for the picture's action after an opening sequence in Miami. Grant has the role of Devlin, an American secret service man who enlists the aid of Alicia Huberman (Miss Bergman) for a perilous South American assignment.

Both stars turn in compelling performances in roles that are among the most exciting and dramatic of their careers. Claude Rains also does a memorable job as a dealer of the conspirators.

The picture is declared to be a smash hit.

County Health Unit And Commissioner Asked by Medicos

would become deputies under the county commissioner. Governor Dewey has for some time advocated greater "home rule" and the adoption of a County Health Unit plan would be a step for Ulster county under this idea. Broad over-all policies, standards and plans would remain with the State Health Department.

Policy Is Non-Partisan
The resolution which will be presented to the Board of Supervisors calls for the adoption of the County Health Unit Plan and recommends that the plan be operated on a non-political policy for the benefit and betterment of the people of the county.

Also at the special meeting of the Medical Society which was called to discuss the newly proposed County Health Plan and for the endorsement of a Pediatric Survey of Ulster county as outlined by the American Academy of Pediatrics, this pediatric survey was authorized and will be started this fall.

Both topics were of great importance to the doctors of the county and the attendance of 35 who turned out indicated the interest which doctors from all parts of the county are taking in these two important matters.

Peru Takes Lead
Lake Success, N. Y., Sept. 14 (AP)—Peru took the lead today in a growing movement to limit the scope of the proposed international refugee organization now being considered by the United Nations Economic and Social Council. As the Council prepared to meet to continue discussion of Secretary-General Trygve Lie's proposal for an interim commission to take over the refugee work immediately from U.N.R.R.A., Peruvian Delegate Alberto Arca Parro urged that the question be approached with caution.

Memorial Mass
A Memorial Mass in memory of Captain Richard H. Claeys, A.A.F., of St. Charles, Ill., and Corporal Chester Lower, A.A.F., of Enfield, N. Precious German Jewels Recovered On Jeweler's Tip

Berlin, Sept. 14 (AP)—American officials estimated today that "upwards of $150,000,000" in precious stones and metals were recovered in mass raids this week in the American and British occupation zones.

A German jeweler, longing for his wife, gave authorities the first clues of the hidden treasures once owned by the German Reich in return for having his wife brought back from southern Germany to Berlin.

American and British authorities worked almost a year to prepare "operation sparkler," which started Tuesday and is continuing. Maj. Louis Dups of 26 Allenwood Rd., Great Neck, N. Y., and Col. J. F. Fisher of Wilmette, Ill., both of the decartelization branch of the American military government, told of their "treasure hunt." Maj. Dups related:

"Last October, a Berlin jeweler who was in receipt of a small lot of diamonds from the Reichsstelle Fuer Edelmetalle, which controlled all precious metals and stones in Germany, came to me with the promise that he could lead me to a lot of diamonds in Hamburg and provide other valuable information if I would agree to bring his wife from New Frankfurt to Berlin.

"I took him up and delivered his wife to him here. Immediately he puts us in contact with a German official then living in the Russian sector of Berlin.

"This official had access to the records of the Reichsstelle Fuer Edelmetalle. Part of them were here, the rest were in Thuringia, stored away in a filing cabinet of a Nazi government office."

cating a milder policy towards Communism and a less friendly attitude toward England," he added: "By supporting Mr. Wallace's remarks, the President has betrayed his secretary of state, who, during recent weeks, has been resisting every effort of Russia to extend its influence throughout the world."

Taft noted that Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), speaking from the same platform with Wallace, was loudly applauded for an attack on administration foreign policies while Wallace was hissed for "saying that some Russian positions might be wrong."

Young declared that Wallace comments indicated he was "far out of step with the thinking of a vast majority of the American people." He asserted that Wallace's speech "emphasized the need for a positive American Foreign Policy based on a realistic understanding of the political and trade problems now confronting the world."
